

State Rep. Dennis Leh ~~NOT~~ Seeking Re-Election

After 20 years of service to the State of Pennsylvania and portions of Exeter Township, Dennis Leh has decided not to seek re-election this year. Rep. Leh, a Republican residing in Amity Township, gave the reason that he was tired of the legislature not doing enough for property tax relief. As a core member of the group of legislators pushing for replacing property taxes with a lower flat tax on items including those that are not currently taxed, Leh was upset that the Commonwealth Caucus Plan could not be approved to lessen the burden on property owners. Also, there has been a great upheaval of public discontent with most of the current legislators due to the increased salary that they had approved and subsequently repealed for themselves. That issue has driven a wedge between the general public and their representatives. Leh has made the decision that it is time for him leave office.

Flash:* Prior to posting the message above, Dennis Leh, at the urging of constituents, has chosen to seek re-election. Rep. Leh has stated that he will run again after the huge outpouring of support that he was shown recently by constituents at a stop at Michael's Diner in Douglasville and from the many communications that have been pouring in from supporters.
